

Developments in Philippine and International Alternative Dispute Resolution in Commercial Transactions: An Analysis

Angela C. Ylagan

59 ATENEO L.J. 169 (2014)

SUBJECT(S): ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION, INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION, CLOGGED COURT DOCKETS

KEYWORD(S): ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION, INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION, CLOGGED COURT DOCKETS, COMMERCIAL TRANSACTIONS, SPEEDY DISPOSITION OF CASES, JUSTICE DELAYED IS JUSTICE DENIED

This Article exposes the problems of the judicial system in the Philippines in dealing with cases within its competence and jurisdiction. One of the major problems in the judiciary is the clogged court dockets all over the country.

The numerous cases which are pending in the courts result in the slow dispensation of justice. Justice delayed is justice denied. This Article will focus on the developments in Philippine and international alternative dispute resolution (ADR) in commercial transactions. It discusses the Philippine experience in the field of ADR in commercial transactions and compares it with practices in the international arena. It analyzes these recent trends, its corresponding problems, and proposes possible solutions to these challenges.